Gov. O'Connor Will Seek U.S. Senate Nomination

Maryland's Chief Executive Commits Himself to Primary Contest with Sen. Radcliffe

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Herbert
R. O'Connor, completing his second term as governor of Maryland, announced today his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, thus committing himself to a primary fight against Sen. George L. Radcliffe.

Almost coincidentally, Rep. Lansdale G. Sasser (D-Md.), who had been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, disclosed that he would not seek that office.

Announcing his candidacy, O'Connor,
a 40-year-old Baltimore attorney,
said he did not think "it unfortunate that a primary fight for the senatorship will result."

Last week, Radcliffe said he was viewing talk about O'Connor opposing him "philosophically," adding,
"I hope to run unopposed. But if I am opposed, I shall fight." Radcliffe has filed his candidacy.

The announcement definitely cleared the Democratic picture in Maryland. O'Connor's possible role had been the subject of much speculation—he being mentioned for the governorship, senatorship and a federal judgeship.

W. Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown, filed for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination several weeks ago.
After Rep. Sasser's statement, Lane had been left apparently without opposition. Lawrence B. Fenwick, Baltimore, has announced for the attorney generalship nomination.
Another possible candidate for the nomination for attorney general is State Sen. James J. Lindsay (D-Baltimore county) who said today
he was considering entering the race.

Became Governor in 1938

O'Connor was first elected governor
in 1938 and re-elected in 1942.

O'Connor's announcement said:
"I am announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

"It has been my desire to complete the official report of my seven years' stewardship as governor before making the announcement. The entire record is now established and I stand on it in going before the people as a senatorial candidate.

"With the state now firmly established on a sound financial and administrative footing, I can feel assurance that my allotted task here
at Annapolis is complete, and feel at ease to seek service to all our people in the broader field of national legislation."

"During recent months," O'Connor stated, "many persons and organizations have suggested that I run for re-election as governor.
Both the offers of support from such sources and conclusive returns from independent inquiries among voters in various parts of the state
give assurance that I could be renominated and re-elected.

"Nor do I think it unfortunate that a primary contest for the senatorship will result.

"Contest Should Prove 'Healthy'"
"On the contrary, I will prove healthy, I believe, to have an open primary so that the rank and file of our party may determine who shall be their candidate.

"It is generally admitted that

Butter Price Increase Of 18 Cents per Pound Is under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—An eighteen-cent a pound increase in butter prices for the housewife by April 1 was reported today to have been recommended by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Aides, who could not be named,
said Anderson had made the recommendation to encourage greater production. Under the plan, prices would be advanced six cents a month beginning February 1.

An increase in the ceiling price February 1 would be the second in less than three months.

The secretary also was said to have recommended continuance of the government's $325,000,000 yearly dairy production subsidy program until May 1. Under the present schedule, the subsidy payments to dairy men are to be ended March 31.

U. S. Atom Secrets Are Adequately Safeguarded, Chief Executive Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman today backed Secretary of State Byrnes' assurances that the American atomic bomb secrets
are adequately safeguarded.

He also told a news conference
he had no reason to believe reports that Russia has developed an atom bomb—no bigger than a baseball—
which rendered the American-British-Canadian product obsolete.

To reporters who asked for comment on the recent Moscow agreement he replied that, well, he was satisfied.

It was the president's first news conference since the far-reaching Big Three accords were made at Moscow and he began with the statement that he had nothing
special to say and was open to questions.

The questioning developed, through brief responses from Mr. Truman given without much spontaneous elaboration, that:

1. Mr. Truman believed Secretary Byrnes covered everything very thoroughly in his statement yesterday on atomic energy control. Be-

Secret Papers Unmask Goering And Ribbentrop

By JAMES F. KING

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 8.
(AP)—The double-crossing dealings of Hermann Goering and Joachim von Ribbentrop were placed today before the international military tribunal
for American and British prosecutors who charged that the two Nazi leaders not only planned for war
but brazenly sought it.

The two defendants shifted uneasily in the dock as the prosecution introduced a mass of hitherto secret documents unmasking Goering, Hitler's Reichsmarschall, with his
"ever-ready smile" and Ribbentrop, Hitler's foreign minister, with his
"honeyed words."

Ralph H. Albrecht, of the American prosecution staff, described Goering as utterly ruthless and
"more dangerous in some respects"
than Hitler himself.

A former British attorney general, Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, acting chief prosecutor for Great Britain at the trial, began the case against Ribbentrop, branding him
as "an extraordinary meddler" who
"could hardly keep his hands out of the internal affairs of other countries, even when they did not seem very important."

Fyfe said that Ribbentrop was the dynamo behind the invasions of Norway, Denmark and Poland, and asserted that the diplomat "did whatever he could to avoid peace with Poland and to bring on the war which we know he wanted,
knowing it would involve England
and France."

Ribbentrop was revealed also as the chief financial backer of Maj.
Vidkun Quisling in a master plan
aimed at kidnapping King Haakon, of Norway. Quisling, who became the Nazi puppet premier in Norway,
has been executed by the Norwegians.

Sections of the diary of Count
Galeazzo Ciano, former Italian foreign minister, were introduced to show that Ribbentrop moved throughout Europe signing non-aggression pacts while plotting at home on the best way to break them.

Completing the case against Goering, Albrecht tabulated the Reichsmarschall's deeds as verified by captured German papers. Goering was shown to have negotiated secretly for the absorption of Austria, to have given false assurances of friendship to Poland, to have ordered the first million slave workers brought to Germany from Poland and to have sponsored the art looting programs for most of occupied Europe.

Goering squirmed when Albrecht called him the "father of the gas
tapo and the concentration camp."

Quake Is Reported

EL CENTRO, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—
A heavy earthquake of short duration shook this area today at 10:55
a. m. Pacific time. No damage was reported. It was felt as far away as San Diego.

fore taking off for London, Byrnes gave assurances that the proposed United Nations commission would be unable to obtain any information
the United States was unwilling to give.

2. The president hopes the atomic energy commission will wind up by presenting recommendations, which will be submitted to Congress. These recommendations will be for international controls. The commission's action, Mr. Truman said in reply to a question, will not impinge upon a Senate committee whose studies, he declared, are aimed at domestic controls.

3. The United States government has no reason to believe that Russia has produced an atomic bomb. A report of such a development was made yesterday at Londonderry,
Northern Ireland, by Dr. Raphael
E. G. Armistead, an anthropologist.

4. The president fully approves the Allied control machinery for Japan set up at Moscow. He did not discuss the controversy over its possible impact upon Gen. Douglas MacArthur's powers.

Steel Price Rise May Be Granted, President Says

Meat Packers May Get Increase; Officials See Ray of Optimism

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman today said a price increase on steel probably would be granted but he would not guess whether it would avert the imminent nationwide strike of steel workers.

Price boosts also were being deliberated for meat packers, another coast-to-coast industry due to be hit by CIO's scheduled "one-two-three" strikes involving 1,100,000 workers—steel next Monday, electrical manufacturing workers on Tuesday, packing house workers on Wednesday.

A ray of optimism was seen by some officials. They said the government evidently was willing to carry into the settlement talks some clear statements on permissible
price changes which could provide a basis for wage compromises.

Extraordinary Conditions
But steel industry sources heard that OPA Administrator Chester Bowles, while willing to permit up to $2.50 a ton price increase on steel products, would go no further toward meeting the industry's long-standing request for $7.

Bowles, who talked with Mr. Truman yesterday, was understood to have taken the stand that any further concession would violate the federal anti-inflation policy and would have to be approved on higher authority.

While stabilization officials are firm in their stand that any steel price increase granted must come within the present wage-price policy, an OPA official said an increase probably would be based on a finding that extraordinary conditions existed in the industry because of reconversion conditions.

Decision May Become Precedent
An eleven per cent increase in steel casting prices was so explained
five weeks ago. Because of changing conditions and uncertainties, OPA
said, then, it was impossible to apply its ordinary standards for revising castings.

This decision, which may become a precedent for steel, said that "while it cannot be said now that a price increase is required by law,
it is clear that a ceiling increase is warranted at this time, since in the absence of price relief it can be reasonably expected that production of many industrial castings
will be curtailed."

President Truman told questioners
at a news conference that discussions under way probably would result in a steel price increase.

Mr. Truman affirmed his belief,
also, that impartial fact-finding,
accompanied by a compulsory thirty-day cooling off period, was the way to prevent strikes.

Byrnes Predicts
Accord on Atom
Safeguard Issue

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—United States Secretary of State James F.
Byrnes said today he believed the issue of safeguarding the basic secrets of atomic energy, which has threatened to divide the American delegation to the United Nations Assembly, would be settled satisfactorily.

At the same time it appeared
the United States and Great Britain were in agreement that the basic secret of atomic energy must be safeguarded under proposed plans for the United Nations General Assembly to control the world's most destructive weapon.

Meeting newsmen about a half hour after arriving from Washington in President Truman's own C-54 plane, the United States secretary of state said he believed there was "no doubt" the atomic safeguard issue would be worked out to the satisfaction of everyone.

"I am sure it will be," Byrnes said. "There can be no doubt of that. Whenever people have the same objective they never have trouble finding language to reach the objective."

There was some American concern that the secrecy safeguards were jeopardized by the wording of a resolution submitted to the United Nations, recommending establishment of a commission to deal with atomic energy.

Exception was taken to a recommendation that the commission
"shall proceed with the utmost dispatch and inquire into all phases of the problems."

Byrnes said that the plan specifies that all stages in dealing with the problem will be concurrent with security.

The British view is understood to be the same.

Gen. Richardson Asks
Troops to Refrain From "Mob Action"

HONOLULU, Jan. 8 (AP)—Lt. Gen.
Robert C. Richardson, Jr., appeared today to troops under his mid-Pacific command to refrain from any
"mob action" against the War department's demobilization policies.

The general called 500 commissioned and non-commissioned officers to the Fort Shafter post theater and frankly discussed the demobilization situation as rumors spread that soldiers planned a meeting tonight to voice protests such as those made by GIs at Manila
and Guam.

Immediate reaction to the general's statement was favorable.

X-RAY OF TWO-HEADED BABY

WHEN THE WIFE of an American soldier gave birth to a two-headed baby in Birmingham, England, recently,
it was revealed that this was not the first time that such a phenomenon had been recorded. The above photo is an x-ray picture of a similar birth that took place in England previously. It is from the files of the Royal College of Surgeons. This baby not only has two heads but two spinal columns, as can be seen plainly in the x-ray.

Demobilization Proceeds As Fast as Need for Men Permits, Truman Asserts

Congressional Inquiry
Looms; GIs Send Pleas
to Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman said today demobilization is proceeding as rapidly
as the critical need for troops permits, and that the need for troops overseas will permit.

GIs at spots around the world
have been clamoring to come home
now. Congressmen are talking of investigating demobilization, particularly a slowdown ordered last week by the army.

Mr. Truman attributed this slowdown to the critical need for troops overseas. He said in a statement that it was an "inescapable need"
because America must help
peace and destroy the "war-making potential of the hostile nations that were bent on keeping the world in a state of warfare."

"The future of our country," the president said, "now is as much at stake as it was in the days of the war."

Number of Releases "Staggering"
The necessity of building a firm foundation for world peace and the enormous size of the demobilization
job both make it impossible to discharge every member of the armed forces promptly, he asserted.

"The wonder is not that some of our soldiers, sailors and marines are not yet home. Mr. Truman declared that so many are already back at their own firesides."

Considering the ships, processing and rail transport involved, the president said the number of releases had been "staggering."

He said the army had let out more than 4,750,000 of the 8,300,000 men and women in service when fighting stopped in Europe, the had discharged close to 1,250,000 of its peak of 3,500,000, the marines more than 183,000 out of nearly 486,000, the coast guard more than 74,000 out of 180,000.

On Capitol Hill, members said the House Military committee probably would investigate demobilization, or at least order an informal inquiry.
Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala.), who also is House Democratic whip, said the committee ought to question army leaders so that "all the facts can be laid before the public."

Rep. Short (R-Mo.) declared, "We should do something about it."

ing of 12,000 enlisted men Monday

the hospital.

were at school.

Coast Guard Mascot Gets Hero's
Welcome but Stands Up Admiral

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sinbad, swaggering black and tan mongrel
mascot of the United States Coast Guard, arrived today for a hero's
welcome—and stood up an admiral.

A twenty-four-piece coast guard band greeted the dog—which has sailed more than 1,000,000 miles in eight years—on his arrival at Pennsylvania station from the port of Charleston, S. C.

Then Sinbad—whose exploits are legion and lose nothing in the telling—posed for photographers and set off for the Museum of Modern Art, where he was to meet Adm.
Joseph Farley, coast guard commandant.

However, adding another misdeed
to a long list of infractions of discipline, Sinbad failed to keep the appointment.

MANILA, Jan. 8 (AP)—A mass meeting of 4,000 GIs at Batangas, south of here on Luzon, voted funds tonight for full-page newspaper advertisements in the United States demanding removal of Secretary of War Patterson and appealing to the public for pressure on Congress to speed the demobilization of overseas forces.

Money collected at the meeting to pay for messages to President Truman and the chairmen of the Senate and House Military Affairs committees totalled $3,700, far in excess of the estimated cable costs. So the men voted to take full-page
space in fifteen leading dailies
to carry their case to the folk at home and pledged additional funds to foot the bill.

Three Are Beaten;
Infant Boy Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 8 (AP)—
An infant boy was beaten fatally
and his mother and brother seriously injured today when Sheriff B. K. Land, of the attacked "apparently" with an instrument.

Freddie J. Goss, 1, was at 2:30 p. m. in case to the
his mother, Mrs. I. T. Goss, brother, Sammie, 3, and fractures and lacerations.

Land said the three were up shortly before 7 p. m. when the ruins of their house were burned to the ground.

Sheriff Oliver Perry said the victims appeared as if "they had been hit with a hammer."

The three were picked up by ambulances shortly before noon after passers-by found them lying in the rain outside their burning home.

The father, an employee of an army depot, said he left for work
as usual at 7 o'clock this morning.
He was notified at the depot and was taken to his wife's bedside at
the hospital.

Brooks, 15; Kenneth Eason, 13;
Anita Joy, 12, and Minnie May, 10

CHUNGKING, Jan. 8 (AP)—Members of the three-man committee
seeking a truce in China's civil strife appeared optimistic today that
lengthy conferences today that a
final settlement would be reached
tomorrow, eve of the opening of the political consultation conference
that will seek national unity.

"The major portion of the problems have been settled and certain
details remain to be discussed and
disposed of," the committee said in
a communique following its third
meeting, a three-hour and forty
minute session which followed a
three-hour morning conference.

Gen. George Marshall, United States presidential envoy who presided, and two other conferees, representing the national government
and the Chinese Communist party,
declined to discuss details of their meetings.

But they left the impression they
were optimistic that the efforts to bring about a cease firing order in China would be successful before Thursday's opening of the inter-
party and non-partisan parleys
which will try to settle outstanding
problems between the government
and Communists.

Before issuance of the communique, the Chinese press predicted
both the government and the Communists would issue cease firing orders tomorrow.

Four Die in Indian Riots

BOMBAY, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four persons were killed and several others injured today in Ranibennur, 360 miles southeast of here, when police fired two volleys into a crowd during Hindu-Muslim rioting. The riot occurred during a procession in honor of "heroes of the Indian national army."

Communications Blackout Faces Much of Nation

6,000 Western Electric Workers Are Slated To Leave Jobs Today

(By The Associated Press)
Paralysis of much of the nation's communications was threatened by a strike of 6,000 Western Electric Company workers, set for today (Wednesday) at 11 a. m. (E.S.T.), together with the walkout yesterday (Tuesday) of 7,000 Western Union employees in New York city.

The Western Union strike cut off
New York city from telegraphic communication.

Ernest Weaver, president of the independent communications equipment workers whose 6,000 members are telephone installation men, said
last night that ten of fifteen locals
throughout the nation voted to strike. The last-minute strike poll, Weaver said, was taken by telephone
of the union's fifteen nationwide headquarters.

Wage Negotiations Fail
The strike move came after wage negotiations last night with the Western Electric Company failed.
Weaver said the strike would cause
"100 per cent breakdown of toll telephone service" and disruption of dial service "within a week or ten days."

Other telephone unions, including the 263,000-member National Federation of Telephone Workers, have said they would not cross any picket lines set up by the installation
workers.

The Western Union strike of 7,000 employees in New York city began 7:10 a. m. (E.S.T.) yesterday, cutting off the city from telegraphic communication. CIO leaders said the walkout may bring support from 600,000 other metropolitan workers.

Yesterday union members in eight international and radio message firms refused to accept traffic from Western Union which normally handles a union-estimated forty per cent of international communications.

The strike was precipitated by an employees' protest of a War Labor board decision which revised downward a wage award by a regional board.

Western Union officials said
twenty-five branch offices were open in New York yesterday manned by clerical help, not members of the union. Incoming telegrams were relayed by telephone to addressees and the company set up a system of priorities for accepting telegrams,
based on a wartime list.

Union Charge Is Denied
The company said last night it had instructed all its branches not to accept civilian cable and radio messages for European and some South American points. The branches were told to accept only government messages of a military nature and those to and from soldiers overseas.

The Western Union strike impeded business communications all over the world. It began four hours ahead of schedule after union spokesmen, representing the CIO American Communications Association, said the company was shipping in
"four carloads of strike breakers," a charge denied by Western Union.

Joseph L. Egan, Western Union
president, said thirty supervisors were brought in and that the plant
force at the main office
had been increased, but denied the statement that strike breakers had been employed.

The strike affected approximately 1,600 points in New York city and many other municipalities.

CHUNGKING, Jan. 8 (AP)—Members of the three-man committee
seeking a truce in China's civil
strife appeared optimistic today that
lengthy conferences today that a
final settlement would be reached
tomorrow, eve of the opening of the
political consultation conference
that will seek national unity.

"The major portion of the problems have been settled and certain
details remain to be discussed and
a communique following its third
meeting, a three-hour and forty
minute session which followed a
three-hour morning conference.

Gen. George Marshall, United States presidential envoy who pre-
sided, and two other conferees, representing the national government
and the Chinese Communist party,
declined to discuss details of their
meetings.

But they left the impression they
were optimistic that the efforts to bring about a cease firing order in China would be successful before
Thursday's opening of the inter-
party and non-partisan parleys
which will try to settle outstanding
problems between the government
and Communists.

Before issuance of the commu-
nique, the Chinese press predicted
both the government and the Communists would issue cease firing orders tomorrow.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S. Patent Office)
SHOULD THEY BE SHOVED AROUND?

Her mother had told her that she must never go with strange men or women—that she must never, never get into a strange automobile. She knew that mother was both kind and loving. Yet at 14, strange new urges and vague revolts ran through her. It was such fun to be growing up—so thrilling to be pretty—so exciting to have young men turn and look. Maybe mother didn't understand modern life after all. Things had been so different when mother was a girl.

Of course, she would always be a nice girl. But nice girls weren't so fussy as they used to be. Mother, she concluded, was a little old-fashioned. She didn't know how swell things were today—how kids knew all the answers years and years before their parents had. And so when the automobile drew up in front of the school yard and the man with the strange, searching eyes asked her and her friend if one of them would care to come home and watch his children for a few hours, she thought there would be a big "kick" in it. The other girl ran away but the volunteer was all the more determined to have at least one forbidden adventure. And so she climbed into the seat beside him and went.

Today, after weeks of dreadful waiting, all California is shuddering at the discovery of two little bobby sox and a hair ribbon and stained automobile cushions near the smoldering surf line of a cliff—and the confession of a psychopathic ex-convict that he had murdered the child and thrown her helpless body into the depths below.

I have been interested in hearing young mothers discussing that case. They are not stupid or negligent parents. They are intelligent, devoted, sincerely desirous to develop their children's characters along the most constructive lines. "Everybody thinks that poor youngster should have been prevented from going," they say, "but you just can't shove a modern child around that way. They must learn to express themselves from the time they are little tots. They must learn to make their own decisions and suffer their own consequences. They will never be able to meet the world unless they learn to think for themselves as soon as they can walk."

All of which is very interesting and, I admit, expresses our modern attitude perfectly. Well do I remember such fine theories issuing from my own big mouth. But they issue no longer. For I am a mother, too, and I have been on the battle line for many a year, and I have come to the conclusion that the loveliest theories may fail in practice. So, in the face of such horrors and the mounting toll of far greater juvenile delinquency, I am moved to rise and make myself unpopular by stating the following convictions:

I do believe there are times and circumstances when a youngster needs to be shoved around and no questions asked.

Shoulkin't a young person learn to express himself? Shouldn't he learn to make his own decisions? Establish his own standards?

He most certainly should. But he should also learn that there are certain unhappy conditions in this world which he cannot buck and himself. Moreover, there are 135,000,000 people in this country alone who are also wishing to express themselves, so he had better get used to being jostled.

The plain fact is that the world will shove a kid around whether he likes it or not, and his basic lesson in social relations is to expect to be shoved and take it good naturedly. From the moment a child leaves its sheltered home and enters the mature world he will speedily discover that people have neither the time nor the energy to make explanations or wait upon his decisions or pardon his blunders. He will have to get into line—or else. However, much he may yearn to express himself, he will find that humanity at large is quite indifferent to his private plans. And the sooner he learns this wholesome lesson the better.

This does not mean that the youngster cannot develop his individuality and be encouraged to do so. It does mean that he should develop an individuality which will fit in with the reality of the world around him. And the really devoted parent at times will assume the attitude of that world if he or she wishes to help. In other words, there are times when implicit and snappy obedience should be required without long winded explanations.

You had better cut off your child's hand or foot and send him into the world handicapped than omit such training.

Why were the first Americans such stalwart fighters, such magnificent builders? Why did that little band of pioneers hold together and work together against the enormous menace of savage winters? That's why—because they had been shoved around—plenty! They had not been told to "express

Model Husbands Who Keep on Move Can Be Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It seems there are men, exemplary citizens too, who are away from home as much as the proverbial clubwoman of the comic supplements. No question of "another woman" with these gentlemen. They're away from home, uplifting and doing good according to their lights.

A couple of letters in the morning's mail are good examples of the model husband seldom at home. One correspondent begs me to write something about "Mr. Jellyby," the masculine equivalent of Dickens's famous uplift-lady in his novel "Bleak House."

Mrs. Jellyby, as you may remember, was always away from home doing kind acts for Hottentots, cannibals, etc., while her own house continued in utter bedlam. When you opened a cupboard door at the Jellybys, four or five buttered hats were likely to drop out. In such haste was the wife and mother to be off doing good, that hats and butter-dish were likely to be jammed in the cupboard together. My correspondent writes:

"My 'Mr. Jellyby,' when he's not at his office, is so busy instructing other men's sons in how to become good citizens that our own children are frequently in trouble. Our older boy, with other youngsters, raided a vacant house, and when the police rounded them up, my husband got a reprimand from the court he will be likely to remember."

The second correspondent doesn't call her husband "Mr. Jellyby." She says "he never looks at another woman, never stops at the tavern for a drink. His thoughts are on higher things. The rifle range, for instance, claims a good many of his waking hours. All day Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., he practices marksmanship, and instructs younger men to be prepared for our third world war."

"He's also a scoutmaster, and the time he feels justified in taking from his own sons he lavishes on scouts. He teaches them how to build a fire, though the heavens pour and the lightning flashes; how to cook in a tempest, which recalls the witches' scene from 'Macbeth'; how to tie knots as well as any sailor; how to recognize the poison ivy from the sprouting oak. He conducts reading classes for refugees. He's a leader of the boys' choir in his local church, and he's an ardent amateur photographer."

This "Mr. Jellyby" often isn't home for meals, and in the fifteen minutes or so he is at home he claims his wife is not affectionate. What's the poor girl and her children to do, until some method of transmitting kisses and fond embraces—even as television shortens distances—has been invented.

Mr. Jellyby is something new in our war madness, and I thank the lady for her letter. But Mr. Jellyby can't keep it up; it would be beyond even Mrs. Roosevelt. And here's hoping that the Messrs. Jellyby run down, and occasionally stay home.

A Nation Bursting Out at Its Seams

ENCOURAGING FACTORS, among which—population increase is cited as one of the most important, represent tremendous potentialities for postwar prosperity. "Railway Age" finds in its annual Review and Outlook issue, and the finding should hearten those who have held gloomy views of the present chaotic industrial situation.

"Never in the history of this or any other nation," it says, "did there exist at any time economic conditions more favorable to a prolonged period of high level construction, production, transportation, employment and prosperity than now exist in the United States."

"Since beginning of the Great Depression population has increased about eighteen million. This equals the increase in the twelve years 1917 to 1929 when the national income increased from $46 billion to $79 billion—from $454 to $654 per capita. An equal increase in population in 1946 over 1929 would make the national income $120 billion—fifty per cent more than in 1929 and one-third more than in 1941."

"This increase in population is so important because, first, it shows that the potential domestic market for all goods and services would be much larger now than sixteen years ago if there had been neither depression nor war; second, the expansion of the potential domestic market has been much greater in proportion since 1929 than the increase in population, because the increase in population has occurred during sixteen years through which production for civilian purposes has been abnormally restricted by depression and war; and third, the increase of eighteen million in total population has included an increase of about nine million in the number of persons available for employment in the production of goods and services."

"Because of the increase in population, and of the enormous accumulation of unsatisfied needs during depression and war, the nation is bursting out at its seams. Owing to the most extreme shortage of housing in history—shortage of houses, apartments, of hotels—due to lack of building for a decade and a half, millions are without home and many thousands can hardly find lodging on necessary business trips. Local public transportation almost everywhere is inadequate and overcrowded. At a time when the railways are struggling desperately to handle huge movements of homecoming troops, intercity transportation by highway can afford them little relief because of decline in the number and deterioration of the condition of motor vehicles. There are shortages of everything. And confronting these shortages, there are huge amounts of purchasing power accumulated during the war in the hands of both the consuming public and of business."

"But even a large population having such great and pressing needs, and abundance of the purchasing power, man-power and capital required for satisfying these needs, are not sufficient to cause high level production, employment and prosperity. For the attainment of these objectives, it is essential that all parts of the economic system shall be adjusted to each other—that the payrolls and profits of each industry, and the prices and rates of all the many industries producing goods and services, shall be brought into and kept in balance by free and unbiased competition. Then, in the cases of naturally monopolistic industries, by economically sound government regulation."

"In this period of transition from a war to a peace economy, prospects that otherwise would be very bright are clouded by demands from labor unions, and actual and threatened government policies, which disregard the adjustments that must be made and the balances that must be established and maintained to enable private enterprise in production and transportation to function with full efficiency. But private enterprise in this country is a hardy warrior. It is stubbornly resisting the unfavorable climate. Probably, as after World War I, we shall pass through readjustments to a generally higher than prewar level of wages and prices, and then go through a period of years of higher level production and employment than ever were attained before in peacetime."

Let it be hoped that all concerned in the present labor-management crisis can be made to view the potentialities listed so as to bring about this needed readjustment, that no strong government, the better for the whole country."

Crises in France Carry a Warning

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE is proving more successful than his predecessors in surviving the recurrent crises which wrecked French governments almost without number in the years between the wars. This is partly attributable to his own firmness as a leader and his skill at compromise. But perhaps the basic reason is that most Frenchmen recognize that strong leadership is indispensable today and that the politicians do not dare risk the chaos which would ensue if De Gaulle were forced out of office.

But these crises are a warning to all Frenchmen that the defects in their constitutional system, which nearly destroyed representative government in France, still remain. The multiplicity of parties, which makes it virtually impossible for one to gain a working majority, is a reason why French governments are traditionally short-lived. But the basic law of the nation also leaves the executive branch so feeble and so dependent on the shifting coalitions of deputies for its existence that no strong government can be formed and maintained.

The present French assembly is charged with the responsibility of writing a new constitution. The chances that it will do a good job are none too bright. Their experience with dictatorships in the past has given Frenchmen a deep-seated distrust of strong governments and the deputies are naturally reluctant to give up any of the power they now hold.

The fact that De Gaulle has had to surmount two major crises in two months shows how great the difficulties of reaching an agreement are. But they should also serve to impress on all Frenchmen how vital it is to provide the executive branch with enough stability and strength to govern France effectively.

Killing Two Birds With One Stone

IN DISTRIBUTING its proposals for an inter-American treaty to a treaty to all Latin-American nations except Argentina, the State department seeks to kill two birds with one stone. It is acting in accord with the spirit of the recent conference at Mexico City and at the same time is making another pointed gesture in the direction of Buenos Aires.

The inference is plain that the United States, while it is fully prepared to perform the obligations assumed under the Act of Chapultepec, has no intention of signing a military agreement with the present Argentine government. The decision is consistent with long-continued Washington policy toward the existing regime in Argentina.

Certainly there is no warrant for criticism of the State department's course on the part of any American government other than the one at Buenos Aires. Argentina has failed to live up to its commitments as a member of the American family of nations and the United States is justified in making it clear that this country will not bind itself to any more contracts that can be set aside at will by one of the parties.

The proposals, it should be added, also indicate that any regional defense pact that may come out of the coming conference at Rio de Janeiro will be no menace to any nation anywhere. One of them would pledge all the signatory nations to refrain from any threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or independence of any state. In any manner inconsistent with the provisions of the charter of the United Nations Organization.

Big Traffic Job Is Faced by Police

PRIOR TO WORLD WAR II, the most frequently used comparison to emphasize the toll of life in this country was the automobile accidents was to place the death figure for any year beside the total number of men killed in World War I. Always, the automobile death figure was greater.

Judging by the way traffic deaths in the last year over 1944, there will soon be another horrible comparison in common use. It will be pointed out that more people are being killed in automobile accidents than lost their lives in World War II. Regrettably, there is not much anybody can do about this situation. The other fellow's being killed in an accident doesn't have much effect on the naturally careless driver. In addition, because of the automobile strikes there is very little new equipment on the road.

The only thing that can really be done to hold down the death toll during 1946 must be done by the police organizations of the country. By enforcing reasonable speed limits and cutting down on reckless and drunken driving some good can be accomplished.

Had the war continued that 800,000 ounces of opium recently destroyed in Japan would have meant hundreds of victorious Jap communities so common during the last days of the conflict.

George Bernard Shaw, we read, now wants the second "b" to be dropped from "bomb." Having split an atom we shouldn't have too much trouble splitting the word.

Russia may have only limited objectives, as apologists for Stalin maintain, but they certainly are numerous.

A 38-year-old Londoner plans to climb Mount Everest. It might help if he took a helicopter along. And a parachute.

A robin has been agitated. But don't get excited—it was in Florida.

THIS NEW YEAR

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
 This new year upon which we have now entered may prove to be one of the most decisive in human history. The great war is over but peace has not yet blanketed the world.

War has had its victories—but the victories of peace are yet to be won. And her greatest victories must be of the spirit—men's minds and hearts turned to the welfare of all nationalities, all creeds, and all conditions of men.

I don't see how any of us can shirk our responsibility in the making of a better world, no matter how humble our station in life may be. Courage, faith, tolerance, must be a part of the make-up of us all. The more strife we encourage, or aid, the worse for all the world. Others is a big word, but far reaching in its application. We are not only our own keeper, but the keeper of many.

Here in this Western Hemisphere we are the most favored people in all the world. We cannot afford to set ourselves up as isolated from those in other parts of the world, where war and misfortune have left nothing but desolation, despair and a dissolution of the fundamental elements of hope and happiness.

With the return of millions of our boys, who have, for so long, under fearful conditions, fought so bravely for the things which we all hold so dear and essential to happiness, sacrificial adjustments must be made, but they should be made willingly and gladly. These boys must be cared for, and every opportunity opened to them. How glad we are that they are with us again, and how deeply we honor those who gave their all for the victory that they earned.

It's a new year. Let us make it the best year in every way that we know of—for others. We always feel so much happier when others are made happy by some act of ours. That is the way we earn happiness. That is the way we become enriched within. Protected 1946.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Pearson Doubts if Marshall and Stark Both Had Amnesia on Night of Dec. 6, 1941

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Oddest disclosure in the Pearl Harbor probe is the memory—or rather lack of memory—of our two top service leaders in 1941, Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and the army's chief of staff, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Adm. Stark and Gen. Marshall were on twenty-four hour duty preceding Pearl Harbor, but for some strange reason neither can remember where he was on the fateful night of December 6, 1941, just before the Jap attack.

Both Stark and Marshall have repeatedly told the various boards probing Pearl Harbor that they did not know where they were or what they did that night, and they stuck to this story when they testified recently on Capitol Hill.

Strangely enough, Marshall readily recalls many other things that happened about this time, including the fact that he went horseback riding the morning of December 7, 1941. He even remembers the details of how he took a shower bath that morning. But his mind is a complete blank about the night before.

Adm. Stark is equally vague about his whereabouts on that evening. Congressional investigators have been unable to obtain office records which might clear up the mystery, and are apparently content to let the mystery remain unsolved.

It seems highly doubtful, however, that the two top leaders of our armed forces were suddenly and simultaneously afflicted with amnesia at this important hour of history—just at a time when Col. Bratton and Sadler were frantically trying to contact high officials with the message that the Japs were going to attack at 1 p. m. the next day.

Truman's Judges

President Truman is up against a unique test of the ancient tradition that a senator can virtually dictate the appointment of United States judges or other federal employees in his state by falling back on the myth of personal obnoxiousness.

FDR tested out this tradition on various occasions, sometimes defeating senatorial objectors, sometimes not. Truman, so far, has been more cautious.

For three months, however, he has been sidestepping a showdown which he can't avoid much longer—regarding the promised appointment of James McGranery to the Third circuit court of appeals. McGranery long served in Congress from Philadelphia, and now has the No. 2 job in the justice department as assistant to the attorney general.

GETS VET POST

IT HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED in Washington that Lt. Col. Margaret D. Craighill has been appointed consultant for the medical care of women veterans. She was named to the post, the first of its kind in the Washington Veterans Administration, by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs.

is eminently qualified and a strong Roosevelt-Truman supporter. However, Sen. Joe Guffey, of Pennsylvania, opposes McGranery's appointment. But he does it on unique and interesting grounds. He doesn't oppose McGranery as a judge. He opposes him only for this particular court of appeals judgeship affecting Pennsylvania.

At a meeting in the Senate office building attended by Sen. Guffey, Pennsylvania Boss Dave Lawrence, Sen. Francis Myers, and McGranery, Guffey urged:

"Why don't you take this judgeship in the District of Columbia, Jim? It pays the same amount of money and will give you just as much prestige."

In other words, McGranery is not obnoxious to Guffey personally, nor does the senator think McGranery is unqualified to be a judge. In fact he does not even object to McGranery's being a judge in Pennsylvania provided he sits on the district court rather than the court of appeals. But he does emphatically object to McGranery for the Third circuit court of appeals in Pennsylvania—all because Guffey has his own candidate for that job.

And so far he has managed to scare Mr. Truman off.

Other senators are watching the fight carefully—some with considerable amusement. They figure that if the new president scares this easily, they will have no trouble blocking future appointments no matter how flimsy the reason for their opposition.

Louisiana Jury-Fixing

Here is the inside story of how the Justice department ran across the first clue in the alleged bribing of the William Burton jury in New Orleans. It involves a Catholic priest.

Burton was twice tried for income tax evasion, but twice got off with a hung jury. Later it was discovered that a member of the jury panel named Eddie Oliviera had a deal with another member of the jury named Marcel Le Branche and also with Joe Astorius, steward of the Roosevelt hotel, who was not a member of the jury but who kept a strong box with about $19,000 in it. The cash in this box increased mysteriously during the Burton trial.

The deal was that Astorius was to pay Le Branche $1,500 and Le Branche was to pass $500 on to Oliviera. They were to use their influence against the conviction of Burton.

Oliviera received the money, but it burned his pants pocket. He felt uneasy about it. Finally he went to his priest and confessed. The priest told him he should report the matter to the district attorney, Herbert Christianberry. Oliviera followed his advice, and that was how the case was broken.

Note—Astorius, Le Branche and Oliviera have now been indicted as co-conspirators. They will not, however, be jailed.

Truman's Juveniles

Following a White House conference on labor policies, Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, handed President Truman a letter.

"It's from my 8-year-old son," explained Herzog. "He's a great admirer of yours and he wanted me to be sure to give it to you personally."

Truman opened the envelope and read a touching "best wishes" note from the boy. Immediately he inscribed a reply on a White House card. Then he wrote a separate card for young Herzog's sister.

"Jerry Reilly here has three youngsters, Mr. President," Herzog reminded him with a wink, referring to Gerard Reilly, another member of the NLRB. Truman then insisted on writing autographed notes to Reilly's children, also. Finally, he turned to the other board member, John M. Houston, former congressman from Kansas.

"Now what can I do for you, Jack?" Houston handed him a blank check on the Riggs national bank in Washington.

"Just sign your name on the bottom line, Harry," he said.

Past on the uptake, Truman turned the check over and endorsed it "with my recollections on the back." "I haven't any money in that bank," he said, and handed it back to Houston.

Surplus Shotgun

Several times this column has called attention to the unfairness of selling surplus army shotguns to officers only, with enlisted men barred from making purchases.

Enlisted men can now thank Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, for introducing a bill, already past the Senate, but not yet passed by the House, whereby surplus army shotguns will be available not merely to officers but to enlisted men, and also to the general public.

On the House side, Congressman Eddie Hebert, of New Orleans, has already raised Cain with the navy over the fact that naval reserve officers cannot buy shotguns, while Annapolis graduates officers can. He will endeavor to help push the Wherry bill through the House and it should become law at an early date.

The bill, however, does not apply to rifles and other surplus arms apart from shotguns. They will still be available only to officers.

Lawless Picketing Is National Menace, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Physical violence, actual or threatened, has emerged as a technique on the picket lines to such an extent that it rapidly is creating a national scandal comparable to the "sit-down" strikes of a few years ago when strikers attempted to seize property and hold it against management.

When state laws break down and local police allow unions to determine who shall or shall not enter a plant where a strike has occurred, it is conceded that illegal picketing is in progress. The fact that several instances in widely separated localities have occurred recently unfortunately confirms the fears of those who urged in vain the passage of the famous Tydings amendment to the Wagner Labor Relations act in 1935.

At that time a substantial number of senators favored an amendment which would have prohibited "coercion from any source." Other senators—a majority—insisted that this was unnecessary because state laws protected individuals and that there was no need to vest additional police power in the federal government.

Since that time, however, the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that the laws which prohibit interruptions or forcible restraints in interstate commerce could not be applied to labor disputes and that the management in the famous Apex case had to go to the state courts for redress.

There are many persons now who feel that the case for an amendment of the Wagner act to make it applicable to unions as well as management has been made by the strikers themselves in recent weeks. Thus in the Yale & Towne strike in Connecticut, the local police have failed to safeguard management's right to enter its own plant. Encouraged by the breakdown of state and local authority in Connecticut, picketing forces have taken the same steps in other areas, so that now it is becoming common to observe unions issuing passes permitting selected personnel to go through picket lines.

None of the laws of any of the several states relating to "peaceful picketing" condones physical coercion or violence even by implacation. These laws usually permit only peaceful devices to persuade non-union or other workers from resuming work. Now, however, it is often to be noted that management is forcibly kept out of its own offices and in some instances, it has been found necessary to apply for injunctions in state courts.

Punishment for Employer

The Congress, supported by supreme court decisions, has taken the position that it is within the federal jurisdiction to compel an employer to bargain collectively and that he can be punished for discouraging union organizing activities. The theory of the courts was that labor disputes directly affect interstate commerce. Plainly the same theory can be applied to violence which is used to interrupt the flow of interstate commerce and especially to deprive citizens of their individual liberties.

If the situation were reversed and some employer forcibly ejected some employee, the claimer that would come from the leaders of organized labor would be heard from coast to coast. But when labor union leaders actually order their members or professional pickets to take up positions at the entrances to plants and forcibly prevent management from entering, it is only a question of time when resistance will be made and bloodshed will ensue.

Will it require bloodshed to awaken the states and cities to their duties in relation to illegal picketing? Or must Congress be persuaded to pass laws to use the federal authority to protect private property where labor disputes affect interstate commerce?

Dangerous Situation

Recent events unfortunately reveal that labor controversies are not being conducted with processes of reason or even with the use of economic power but by physical coercion. It would seem that the nation's labor leaders would recognize the danger of such a situation and prohibit illegal picketing at once. For as the whole labor situation produces a climax, it is quite possible that many of labor's hard-won gains may be wiped out overnight by a statute of an angry Congress.

The "sit-down" strike hurt the cause of union labor because it was a seizure of property and an unlawful trespass.

The blockade and physical seizure of the entrances to industrial plants is in the same category and when public opinion fully understands the issue, illegal picketing will be looked upon as just as lawless as lynching or any other course that insists on taking the law into one's own hands. Violence begets violence and lawlessness breeds more lawlessness. The illegal picketing now developing on a wide scale constitutes a grave threat to orderly government. ## Confiscation Step Is Seen in Truman Profits Proposal

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

President Truman, in trying to force profits already earned by General Motors to be turned over to their workers as increased wages, is taking a revolutionary step—more so than anything proposed by Mr. Roosevelt. It is a direct assault on the private ownership of property.

Congress could not levy a special tax on the profits of General Motors for the purpose of handing them over to the employees. All taxes must go into the public treasury for public purposes only. What right, then, has the president to use the authority of his great office to force the distribution of profits to workers? Can he, or his fact-finding boards, do what Congress itself is forbidden to do by the constitution?

"Government of Law"

"This is a government of law, and not of men. . . . It must never be forgotten that such a government . . . with all its reach and powers must . . . stop on the hither side of the uncompensated taking . . . of private property legally acquired and held." (Reagan v. Trust Company, 154 U. S. 362.)

Our government has no legal power to tax, or seize profits in order to distribute them to private persons. Power, so prostituted, ceases to be taxation and becomes plunder. This is not a Robin Hood government as long as the Constitution stands.

Anyone can share in corporate profits by buying stock. Nothing prevents him. Or management and men may enter into voluntary profit-sharing agreements. There are many such. Some have worked successfully; others have not.

No Profit-Sharing In the case of General Motors.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

SAN FRANCISCO—The flood of returning G.I.'s has created a terrific problem for the railroads. I saw one eastbound Union Pacific train leave here with a thousand veterans and it was followed by Williams Jeffers, its recently retired president, carrying three more on his back. There's so much railroad traffic around here I saw one train pull up beside another and heard the engine yell, "Aw, c'mon, fellers, get off, it's our turn to use the tracks now."

I wanted to go East the other week and I stepped up to the ticket window and asked for sleeping space on the Chief. They put me on Sitting Bull's shoulder and handed me a can of malted milk.

The big shortage is cars. I saw one car and it was made up of coaches from the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and the Toonerville Trolley.

The big idea was to rush the boys home for the holidays. When they arrived they looked worse than some of the Christmas packages that arrived.

Some of those Pullmans are really old. One soldier climbed into an upper berth and found George Washington still sleeping there. The soldier yelled "Christopher Columbus." And Washington said, "No, he's in the lower berth."

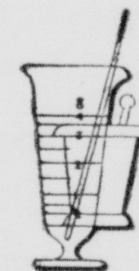

They really make those troop trains up long. One soldier got on one before it started. He walked up front and asked the engineer when they'd get to Pittsburgh and the engineer said "You passed it two hours ago."

Leo Moore, State Legislator, Dies

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—A heart attack caused the death today of Leo M. Moore, publisher and legislator long identified with public affairs in Maryland.

Moore was stricken about 4 a. m., his wife said, and died about thirty minutes later. Mrs. Moore, the former Lena Lamm, said he had suffered a slight heart ailment last September, but had been "feeling fine" recently.

A requiem high mass for the 65-year-old publisher of the weekly Democratic Ledger and member of the Maryland House of Delegates will be read at 10 a. m. Friday at St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment will be in Mount Erin cemetery here.

The Legislative council, of which Moore was a member, will adjourn its scheduled meeting in Baltimore tomorrow out of respect for him.

Moore was the son of the late Michael Moore, who was a member of the House of Delegates in 1888, and Martha J. Kurtz Moore. He was born at Principio Furnace, Cecil county, where he attended public school.

He began his newspaper career as a printer's devil on the old Cecil Whig at Elkton. He bought the Democratic Ledger from E. H. Pitt-chett in 1907 and has published it since then.

Moore was president of the Maryland Press Association in 1924. He was also a correspondent of the Associated Press.

In 1934, Moore was elected to the House of Delegates, over whose sessions he often presided when the speaker of the House was off the rostrum.

In addition to serving as a member of the Legislative council, he was a member of several important legislative committees, including Ways and Means, Chesapeake Bay and Tributaries, Education and House Inspections, being chairman of the latter.

Let's talk turkey

Who should receive the benefits of improved methods when industry gets back into its peacetime production stride?

Judging by their strike demands, UAW-CIO leaders seem to think that such benefits should go entirely to union members.

They forget that it is important for consumers to benefit through reduced prices or greater values. This has the added advantage of increasing volume and thus expanding job opportunities.

They forget too that improved production methods come largely from the use of improved machinery and tools supplied by the owners of the business.

Over the years the automobile industry has grown and prospered and contributed substantially to the welfare of our country because it has adhered to the principle that customers, employees and investors must all benefit from improved methods.

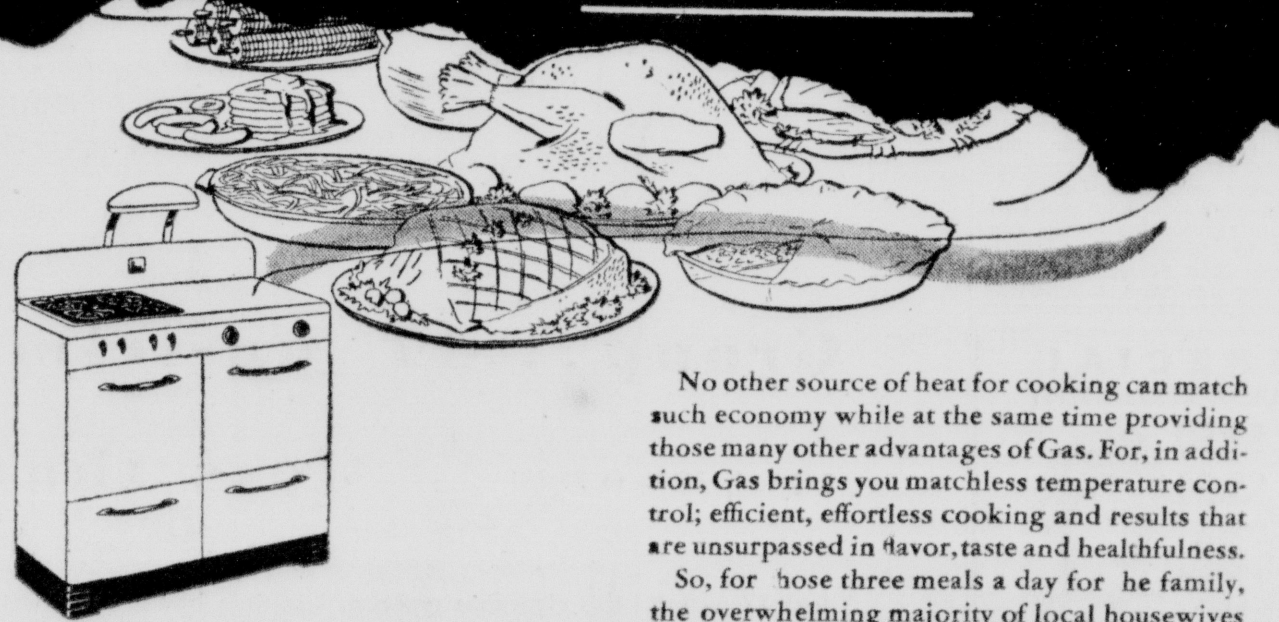

The decision on how best to distribute the benefits calls for experience, judgment and—above all—a primary interest in the welfare of all concerned.

That's why such decisions must be left to management, which is equally concerned with the interests of employees, stockholders—and customers!

For One Dollar or Less
You Cook a Month's Meals—with GAS

Just think for a moment of the big job your modern Gas range does for so little—in this area the average family cooks a whole month's meals for one dollar or less. In most instances, the cost of a month's cooking in the gas bill is as little as 85 cents.

No other source of heat for cooking can match such economy while at the same time providing those many other advantages of Gas. For, in addition, Gas brings you matchless temperature control; efficient, effortless cooking and results that are unsurpassed in flavor, taste and healthfulness.

So, for those three meals a day for the family, the overwhelming majority of local housewives choose to cook with Gas. By doing so, they insure that cooking will probably be the least item on the budget in cost but the greatest in complete family satisfaction.

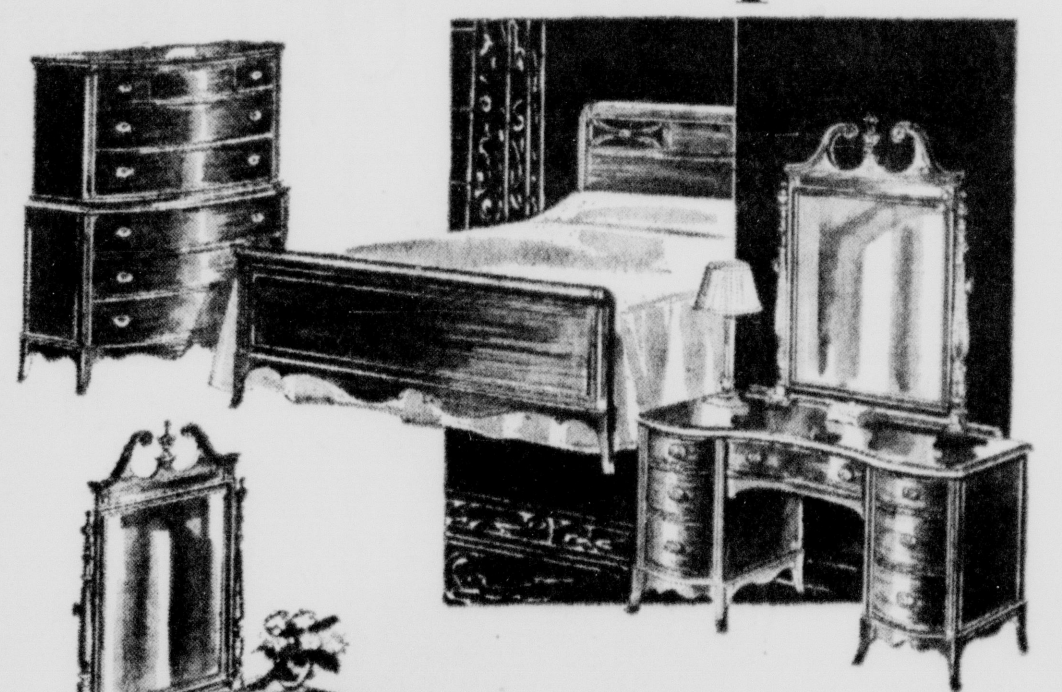

See your Gas Appliance Dealer or inquire at your Gas Company's office so you may enjoy cooking with a modern Gas Range as soon as possible.

Hymn Festival Is Planned By Homemakers Chorus

Choruses from Different Churches To Participate in Program Apr. 28

A "Hymn Festival" will be held April 28 under the sponsorship of the Allegheny County Homemakers Chorus. It will be given in Allegheny high school auditorium and will be open to the public.

The tentative plans, outlined by Mrs. Richard W. Trevaaskis, director at the meeting of the chorus Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George F. Johnson, South Centre street, will be a marked innovation to the annual cantata presented by the chorus. This year choruses from the different churches are to be invited to participate and contribute a part of the program, which will consist of church music through the centuries. The Homemakers chorus will sing only a couple numbers.

Mrs. Joseph J. Coleman presided and the group decided to change the hour of meetings from 8 to 7:30 o'clock. Routine business was also transacted. The life history of Stephen Collins Foster was given by different members and some of his most popular songs were sung by the group. An informal social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Trevaaskis, Baltimore avenue, at 7:30 o'clock February 4, at which time the music of Victor Herbert will be discussed.

MISS TICHNELL ATTENDS MEETING OF PHONE UNION

Miss Wreatha Tichnell, vice chairman of the local group of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers, is expected to arrive back in Cumberland early today following conferences in Baltimore with James B. Bechtel, president of the Baltimore affiliate of the union, and other officials of the organization concerning the present communications strike in New York and New Jersey.

Mrs. Virginia Montgomery, local union representative, said last night that she had nothing to report concerning the possibility of telephone company workers here taking a strike ballot and added that Miss Tichnell would have full reports on the talks of Maryland telephone union representatives in Baltimore.

The strike of Western Union Telegraph Company employees in New York and Newark has caused some decrease in business at the local Western Union office but messages are being accepted for both points, according to E. F. Phillips, manager of the office here.

Phillips pointed out that telegrams for New York and Newark are being accepted subject to indefinite delays due to the dispute. The local manager said this delay would probably exceed twenty-four hours. Incoming wires from the two cities are being received from cities which are nearby, Phillips said. No messages are originating from either New York or Newark.

The regular January meeting of the Twiggtown Homemakers Club will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Edith Bowman will be hostess at her home, Hinkle road.

Important business scheduled for the meeting includes announcement of committee chairmen and home project demonstrators for the coming year. All members are asked to come prepared to pay their dues. A recreational hour will conclude the meeting.

Woman Saved by Mid-air Operation Improves

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8. (P)—Mrs. Margaret Garcia, whose life Johns Hopkins hospital officials said was saved by a mid-air throat operation aboard a C-47 transport plane, was reported doing well today by hospital attendants.

She is in the care of Dr. Murray Fisher, throat specialist at Hopkins, where she was being flown when the emergency, developed, and where studies are being made to discover the source of the infection in her throat.

—The OSS had some 250 agents inside Germany and Austria from September, 1944, until the end of the war.

Two Negro Brothers, Convicted of Murder, Will Get New Trials

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8. (P)—Two negro brothers, Weldon Jones, Jr., 18, and Holbrook, 14, Chance, Md., convicted of the murder of I. Raynor Graham, of Deal Island, were awarded new trials today by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

In an opinion reversing the judgment of the Wicomico County Circuit Court and sentences of hanging against Weldon and life imprisonment against Holbrook, the court said:

"A citizen should not be coerced to relinquish his right to a jury trial and submit to a trial before the court in order to escape an intolerable situation of a trial before a prejudiced jury."

The court held that the lower tribunal had erred in permitting the joint trial to continue without requiring the state to answer a defense petition for a change of venue.

It also held that the Wicomico circuit court had committed an "abuse of discretion" and a "reversible error" in not granting a defense motion to exclude "all witnesses" from the court room during the trial.

Weagley Again Heads Farm Bureau Wool Pool

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8. (P)—R. C. F. Weagley, Hagerstown, was re-elected president of the Maryland Farm Bureau wool pool today as the bureau's thirtieth annual meeting opened here.

Officials announced that in 1945 the pool marketed 102,000 pounds of Maryland wool in connection with the United Wool Growers Association and the National Wool Marketing Corporation. They said the co-operative venture saved growers five cents a pound over the local prevailing prices in June.

In addition to Weagley, officers re-elected for 1946 are F. D. Hayden, Leonardtown, vice president; C. E. Wise, Jr., Baltimore, secretary-treasurer, and M. L. Sutton, Ridgely, assistant secretary-treasurer. Weagley and George B. Johns, New Windsor, were named directors to the United Wool Growers Association.

Lindsay May Enter Attorney General Role

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—James J. Lindsay, state Senate president said today he might enter the race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general in the next June's primaries.

He said he had given thought to becoming a candidate since receiving promises of party support from Maryland party leaders. His law practice will be the deciding factor in his decision, Lindsay explained.

Lawrence B. Fenneman, former state director of the War Manpower Commission, formally filed his candidacy for the Democratic nomination last week.

William Curran, Baltimore political leader, who was appointed attorney general upon the resignation last year of William C. Walsh, said he will not seek the office again.

Lindsay has been a member of the Maryland General Assembly since 1924, when he was elected to the House of Delegates. He was elected senator in 1938 and is chairman of the Legislative council.

Bonner Funeral Services Held At Red Creek

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Jan. 8.—Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church near Red Creek for Robert E. Bonner, 44, Davis, who died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Goldie Strobel in Columbus, Ohio, following a several months' illness of leukemia. He had been employed in that city.

He was born at Red Creek, May 27, 1901, a son of Martin V. Bonner and the late Mrs. Jane Bonner. Surviving are his father and the following brothers and sisters: O. V. Bonner, Red Creek; Stanley Bonner, Gladwin; Ernest Bonner, Elk; Estlin Bonner, Berkeley Springs; Clifford Bonner, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Celestine Teller, Parsons; Mrs. Mabel Miller, Johnstown, Pa.; Mrs. Fred Bennett, Red Creek; Mrs. Paul Simmons, St. Albans; Mrs. Thelma Smith, Alliance, Neb.; Mrs. Goldie Strobel, Columbus, and Mrs. Estella Sweeney, Cumberland.

Services were conducted by the Rev. George C. Stratton, pastor of the Davis Methodist church, and interment was in the cemetery at Red Creek.

Loscar Rites Held
Funeral services and requiem high mass were held in St. Veronica Catholic church, Davis, for Mrs. Frances Agnes Loscar, 75, resident of Davis for many years, who died there of pneumonia.

She was born in Yugoslavia, January 27, 1871, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mittemier. Her husband, the late Joseph Loscar, died several years ago in Davis. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Johanna Beline, Davis; John, of Leandine; Frank, of Davis; Ernest of Erie, Pa.; Martin of West View, Pa., and Mrs. Elizabeth Leahr, Cumberland. There are thirty-seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren surviving.

The Rev. Francis A. Spillar, pastor of the church officiated and interment was in the church cemetery.

Marriage Is Noted
Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Harman, Harman, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Joy Lu to Joseph A. Hedrick, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hedrick, Elkins.

The ceremony was performed on Sunday, December 30, in the Davis Memorial Presbyterian church in Elkins with the Rev. William B. Ward, pastor of the church officiating at the double ring service in the presence of the immediate families and friends.

The bride chose a rosewood dress, trimmed in black velvet with black accessories. A corsage of rosebuds completed her attire.

Mrs. Hedrick is a graduate of Harman high school and attended Davis high school.

Mr. Hedrick was recently granted an honorable discharge from the service after three years of overseas duty.

Weaver Is Home
Pfc. Louis Weaver, is home in Lehigh this week, after being discharged from service. Pfc. ## Moorefield Lions Will Be Sponsor Of Clothing Drive

Club also Endorses March of Dimes Campaign in Hardy County

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 8.—The Moorefield Lions Club will sponsor a clothing drive for used clothing for the use of children and adults in war-stricken countries, it was decided at a recent meeting of the club. The drive will be a continuation of the former drive which was successfully handled by Raymond S. Dispanet, who will again be the chairman.

The Lions club also passed a resolution endorsing the March of Dimes drive, which opens in the county this week. J. D. Anderson, president of the club, announced that the Moorefield civic organization will participate in the travel clinic, sponsored by the West Virginia Industrial and Publicity Commission, and will send a representative of the club to Elkins for the meeting scheduled there.

Members of the Lions club will attend the meeting of the Hardy County Game and Fish Association Wednesday night when recommendations for bag limits and length of seasons will be made to the state conservation commission. J. D. Anderson had charge of the entertainment program for the group, which consisted of a contest between the individual members of the club naming categories of animals and other generic subjects.

Mrs. Mary Hedges Dies
Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary Daniel Hedges, 84, wife of the late Dr. H. S. Hedges, Brunswick, Md., who occurred Sunday, December 30, at Brunswick.

Mrs. Hedges was a native of Martinsburg, the daughter of the late D. S. and Mary Daniels Elcheberger, and lived in that city until her marriage. She was a frequent visitor in Moorefield, being a sister of the late Mrs. E. J. Harman.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Elizabeth West, Frederick, Md., and Sprig Hedges, Brunswick, and a niece, Mrs. Lillian Licklider, Martinsburg.

Services were held Wednesday in Petersville, Md.

Shearer-Parsons
Friends here have received word of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Parsons, daughter of Mr. Charles Ervin Parsons, Baltimore, to the Rev. William Welton Shearer, rector of St. Timothy's Episcopal church, Catonsville, Md. The wedding took place at the bride's home Tuesday, January 1.

The Rev. Mr. Shearer was a son of the late Holmes and Annie Spangler Shearer and was born in Moorefield. He lived here until he went to Cumberland, Md., to school and later was rector of St. Matthew's church, Oakland, Md. For some years now, he has been rector in Catonsville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Shearer will be at home after February 10, at the rectory at Catonsville.

Training School Planned

Mrs. Ellen Hardy Dies at Her Home

Keyser Resident Was in Failing Health for Several Months

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Ellen Frances Porter Dayton Hardy died just before noon today at her home on St. Cloud street. She had been in failing health for several months.

She was born at Greens Rock, near Dawson, Md. Her parents were the late John F. and Mary Ellen Greenwade Dayton. Her father was a leading farmer in Mineral county and was active in the Methodist church in which he served as a local minister for many years. Her grandfather, the late Roland Dayton, also was a local minister in the Methodist church.

After her marriage to John M. Hardy she lived for sometime in Piedmont, but most of her life was spent in Keyser. Her husband was an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and at his death five years ago he was a retired conductor.

Mrs. Hardy was a member of the Methodist church, the Eastern Star, the Rebekahs and the Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. In the last named organization she served many years as treasurer.

She is survived by two sons and two daughters, West Hardy, Morgantown; Brice Hardy, Keyser; Miss Delia Hardy, at home, and Mrs. James Watson, Baltimore. There are four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Stolen Car Returned
A Plymouth 1935 sedan belonging to Henry Cox, Romney, was stolen from the B. and O. parking lot at 4:20 p. m. Monday. The car was returned to the lot at 6 p. m. the same day. Willard H. Everett, Romney, is being held in the Mineral county jail, pending investigation by state and local officials.

Personal Items
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brumage, Keyser, in Potomac Valley hospital.

Others admitted to the hospital are Clarence Hanlin, Mount Storm, and Roy O'Rear, Keyser.

Miss Marie Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Burgess, has returned to Bridgewater college, Bridgewater, Va., after spending the holidays with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson, Winchester, visited friends in Keyser, Sunday.

Registration Day Set for Feb. 4 In Westernport

Town Primary To Be Held March 11; Councilmen Name Two Officials

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Jan. 8.—Registration day will be held in the town of Westernport, Monday, February 4, the town primary March 11, revision day March 14, and the election March 25.

These dates were announced last night at the meeting of Mayor Milton McIntyre and the town council. Charles Beck and John Laughlin were appointed registration officials.

Christmas trees and all burnable garbage will be collected by the garbage truck Saturday if placed on the curb.

The application of John Willis for the position of a night policeman was read by the city clerk, Patrick H. Fahey.

It was ordered that the state district continue using a snow plow on Church street beyond Bruce high school, and that the snow be thrown against the curb.

The bill of $1,125 for resurfacing the streets was ordered paid to the state.

Holls Howe, taxicab operator, requested that he be permitted to place a taxicab stand marker on a pole in front of his office at the Reeves building, Main street. No action was taken; a similar request was turned down by the town officials some time ago.

Former Resident Dies
Harold Paul, 43, a former resident, died at his home in Denver, Colo., yesterday, according to word received here today.

Mr. Paul was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Paul and attended Bruce high school here. He had been residing in Denver because of ill health.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hazel Paul, and one son, two sisters, Catherine and Hilda, and one brother, Clifton Paul, all of Akron, O., also survive.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Baybury Is Re-elected
John B. Maybury was re-elected president of the First National bank of Piedmont, W. Va., at the annual meeting of the stockholders and directors this morning.

Other officers named are W. H. Fredlock and J. D. Thomas, vice presidents; John B. Determan, cashier, and Norris Bruce, assistant cashier.

Raymond C. Hudson was elected a director in place of the late Judge Robert McVeigh Drane. Re-elected as directors are W. H. Fredlock, J. D. Thomas, Dr. Robert W. Bess, J. B. Determan, John B. Maybury, J. Guthrie Luke.

A movie, "What Shall I Wear?" will be shown.

The high school orchestra, directed by Miss Anita Dickens, will play, "Anchors Aweigh," and "Loyal and True."

The association will vote on the question of compulsory military training, having been requested by the State Congress of the P. T. A. to go on record about the proposition.

Miss Jenkins Is Wed
Miss Helen Marie Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary Jenkins, 74 West Fairview street, Piedmont, W. Va., and the late William Jenkins, was married to Mr. Leo McGreevy, Westernport, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGreevy, not married yesterday morning at St. Peter's Catholic church, Westernport.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Charles Quine, assistant pastor. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Charles M. Bell, Westernport.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Woy was her sister's matron of honor. William Jenkins, Piedmont, brother of the bride, was the bridegroom's best man.

Mrs. Thomas White, Westernport, played the traditional wedding marches and the accompaniments to vocal solos, sung by Mrs. Edward Pendergast, Piedmont.

The bride wore a traditional wedding gown of white satin with a long train and a finger tip veil of lace. She carried a white prayer book, with a book marker of white roses and an orchid.

Millhouser Talks On Workings-Aims Of Social Security

B and P Women Plan To Send Supplies to Members in Europe

An explanation of the workings and aims of "Social Securities in the United States," by Henry Millhouser, manager of the local office of the social security board, featured the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last evening at the Central YMCA.

First discussing the many problems of the social security board, Mr. Millhouser said that the main one is the lack of understanding of the workings of social security, by the public, because of its newness. He explained that under the provision of the Social Security act benefit payment is made at the age of 65 years, or at death; which is confused with the unemployment security. He emphasized that unemployment security is a separate branch of social security and works independently of it. Social security, he pointed out, provides the minimum essentials of life at all times; taking care of the worker, his wife and dependent children, under 18 years of age.

Mr. Millhouser, in explaining how the plan works, said that when the insured worker reaches 65 and retires, he is eligible for the monthly benefit, and in case of his death, his widow collects the benefit for herself and dependent children. This makes a steady income for both young and old, he pointed out. If the widow is under 65, then she receives a lump sum payment, and no more until she reaches 65 when the monthly benefits begin.

If however, the insured worker leaves only dependent parents they are paid the monthly benefit, when they reach the age of 65; prior to 65 they come under the same benefit as the widow.

He also said that there are many groups not covered by social security as domestic servants, agricultural workers and independent workers. He said that it has been recommended to Congress that they be brought under social security, but how Congress will act is not known.

Aims of social security are to keep families together; to give people a living wage and keep children in school, the speaker said; and urged anyone nearing 65 to get in touch with the social security board to learn what proceedings should be taken in order to derive the benefits due him.

The program was under the direction of the Legislative committee with Miss Blanch White, chairman.

Miss Anna Nicht presided at the business session, at which time the club voted to procure names of members of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Europe and to send them boxes of clothing, food and other supplies. The boxes will be sent this month under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elizabeth Hitt Dimon, Welfare chairman.

Two Republicans File For Senate Nomination

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Assailing the application of "No Deal thinking" in America, Paul Robertson, Republican Baltimore city chairman, announced today his candidacy for the GOP nomination to the United States Senate.

At the same time, G. Walter Riddleberger, Baltimore county farmer, filed his certificate for the Republican senatorial nomination at the secretary of state's office here.

The two are the first Republicans to file for that office. Sen. George L. Radcliffe, (D-Md) whose post will be at stake in the next election, already has filed for renomination by his party.

Gov. O'Connor himself made news tonight by announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, pointed out in that connection that the blinker signals are easily seen at night, although it is more difficult to see a watchman with a lantern.

Pitcher said the cost of installing the maintaining blinker signals at either end of one crossing would be approximately $5,000 annually. He added that the signals would not be feasible for crossings in the vicinity of Baltimore street because of shifting of engines in the yards, which would keep the lights blinking continually.

Chief of Police Oscar Eyerman, Fire Chief Reid C. Hoehnack, and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, also attended the meeting.

Governor of Kentucky Asks Repeal of State Personal Income Tax

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 8 (AP)—Gov. Simeon Willis, in his message to the opening session of the 1946 General Assembly, today asked repeal of the state personal income tax.

The Republican governor also asked the Democratic-controlled assembly to keep general fund expenditures during the coming biennium close to the current figure.

In asking for repeal of the state's personal income tax without mention of the corporation income tax, the only increase in revenue he proposed was a tax on pari-mutuel betting at race tracks and bills to impose a five per cent on that were offered shortly after the 1946 session convened today.

C. E. Stutzman To Head Allegany Trades Council

Officers of AFL Group To Be Installed Here January 22

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 653, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, was elected president of the Allegany Trades Council at a meeting of the AF of L group held last evening in Allegany Trades Council hall, Frederick street.

Stutzman will replace Paul W. England, who declined nomination for re-election since his lodge, the International Association of Machinists, is now holding a referendum on the action of its convention concerning severance from the American Federation of Labor.

Burley Is Vice President

Other officers elected last evening are: Paul Burley, Bus Drivers Local 1110, first vice president; Charles Robinson, Bakers Local 246, second vice president; T. J. Debaugh, Jr., Firefighters Local 654, re-elected as recording secretary; Miss Aelma Franz, Retail Clerks Local 654, financial secretary; R. C. Summers, Carpenters Local 1024, sergeant-at-arms.

Trustees will be Kenneth Rammage, Carpenters Local 1024; R. C. Simmons, Laborers Local 616, and Peter Creighton, Dairy Workers Local 324.

person and to a Senate subcommittee looking into postwar bases and surplus.

Patterson is due in Manila next week, the committee on Saturday. Here in Washington, a six-inch file of papers complaining about demobilization policies was left at the White House by columnist Drew Pearson. He said they were signed by 30,000 soldiers in the Philippines and were mailed to him by Sgt. Mal Munn, 165 Station hospital.

At Andrews field, Md., just outside Washington, nearly 1,000 army air force enlisted men tossed questions at Col. Curtis D. Sluman, the commanding officer, on the discharge point system and the post administration. Some of them had taken part in a demonstration yesterday.

GIs in Paris Protest PARIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—About 500 United States soldiers, in a sympathy demonstration with fellow GIs in the Pacific, marched down the Champs Elysees to the American embassy tonight shouting "We want to go home."

The demonstration, called through anonymous notices posted during the day in messes and Red Cross clubs, was short-lived and featured a few speeches.

"We are joining our buddies in Manila. We demand an explanation," said Cpl. Jack Hisey, Gary, Ind., one of the demonstrators who has been abroad sixteen months.

The soldiers gathered at the Arc de Triomphe and marched in orderly procession down the Champs Elysees to the Place de la Concorde. They stopped before the iron gates of the American embassy. After several short speeches, they dispersed quietly.

Cpl. Terrell Gallion, Huntington, W. Va., with forty-three points and a year and a half overseas, said "I've been recommended for discharge six or seven times. I have an arm that has been broken four times. I ought to go home."

Sgt. Albert Ellenbogen, Brooklyn, N. Y., with fifty-two points and twenty-two months overseas, said "We want our protest heard loud enough so the states so that folks at home can bring pressure to bear that we cannot 3,000 miles away."

Cancer Society Seeks New Data on Disease From Atomic Research

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—The American Cancer Society announced tonight that it is seeking new information on the disease from wartime atomic research.

The studies which produced the bomb, the society's statement said, might provide an answer to the question:

"Can we find a way to treat cancer internally by making radioactive certain substances on which cell growth depends?"

"Between Pearl Harbor and V-J day, cancer killed more than twice as many Americans than did the Germans and Japanese," said Dr. Frank E. Adams, president of the society. In an address for the society's annual dinner for the National Association of Science Writers.

"Unless we do something about it, 17,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer. It is exceeded only by heart disease as a cause of death. Because it is long and cruel suffering, it is the disease we dread most. As such it ranks as our number one enemy."

Janitor Is Questioned

course, we don't know or can't remember."

He thanked the press, radio and police for their help and said his wife, daughter Betty, 10, and he were going to Worcester, Mass., to visit his mother who is ill.

Degnan also disclosed that his wife, who has been receiving sedatives since her daughter was killed, had not been informed of the brutal dissection.

If the bones prove to be from the girl's missing arms, her entire body will have been accounted for. Her head was found first, in a catch basin near her home and the torso and legs were discovered later in other sewers.

Flesh Fragments Are Examined

A bag containing fragments of flesh, blood and internal organs was taken to the police crime laboratory for examination but police said several hours would be required to determine whether they were from a human body. The scraps were found in the laundry drain.

Hanrahan said the ax was found in the janitor's living quarters at 1023 Thorndale avenue, on the North side Edgewater district. Earlier police said it was discovered in another building at 3028 Kenmore.

The body, he said, was dissected in the basement of the third building at 5901-03 Winthrop avenue.

When the janitor and his 67-year-old wife were taken to police headquarters for questioning, police matrons removed the woman and $7,688, mostly in five and ten dollar bills in small brown envelopes pinned to her undergarments.

The hidden hoard baffled police investigators still trying to untangle the maze of gory clues collected from catch basins, basements and apartment house stairways by an army of officers and aiding spectators who have overrun the neighborhood since the grisly crime became known yesterday morning.

Meanwhile, the grief-stricken parents awaited the burial of the mutilated body of their daughter. The funeral will be from St. Gertrude's Catholic church Friday morning, with private burial services.

A kidnap note left near the girl's bed demanded $20,000 of the father, an OPA executive who earns $7,500 a year and said before the slaying was discovered he had no wealth but could get the money if the kidnaper would return the child.

Numerous offers of financial assistance poured in to the Degnan home and the OPA offices. Among them was one from a total stranger to Degnan who offered to lend him $10,000 at no interest, to be repaid when convenient.

The hunt for a suspect sped toward a climax when the girl's organs, blood, bits of flesh and hair were found in stationary laundry tubs in the basement of the Winthrop avenue building.

The girl's head was dumped in a sewer close to the Winthrop avenue building and other parts of her body were stuffed in other sewers within a radius of a block.

Hanrahan said a bundle of rags of the same color and texture as one used to cover the torso was found in a locker in the basement.

or knowledge of his superior, is not the war crime of the superior."

Harold Judson, assistant solicitor general, replied that this argument did not free Yamashita from "the legal duty to control his troops."

Capt. A. Frank Reel, one of Yamashita's defense attorneys, disputed government assertions that the general had knowledge of atrocities. Instead, he said, the war leader had given orders to befriend civilians and had ordered the release of some prisoners of war.

Hudson, in reply to numerous questions from the justices as to the legal basis for the Manila trial, said it was grounded largely on the common law of war—"the customs and usages of war which in a larger sense are the diplomacy of war."

Gov. O'Connor will take a perfect record at the polls into the primary. He had yet to be defeated in a candidacy for any public office.

One year after he had won his law degree at the University of Maryland in 1920, O'Connor—a product of Baltimore's heavily-Democratic Tenth ward—got his first public job, assistant state's attorney in Baltimore city.

In 1923, he moved a step upward, being appointed people's counsel for the public service commission.

Later that year, he forsook his appointive position to run for the state in Baltimore. He was then under 30 and the youngest man ever to run for the office. He won by 30,000 votes.

The next two campaigns dispelled any hopes his opponents might have entertained that his first victory was a freak, based on his youth and his speaking talents. He won re-election in 1926 by 58,000 votes and increased the margin to 100,000 in 1930.

Elected Out Jackson O'Connor edged right into a tough primary fight in 1938 when he announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

no time in the country's history has there been as pressing need as now for alert, thoughtful, aggressive leadership, capable of translating the sentiments of the millions of younger people who will demand legislative help to achieve the opportunities for which they have been fighting.

"Because I intend to discuss separately each and every issue before the public I am confining this to definite announcement of my candidacy. Public statements and addresses will be made by me so that my views on the vital public questions can be known to all interested persons."

"I might add, however, that in desiring to render further public service, I am actuated by the same motives which have governed my conduct in the successive public offices which I have held. Forthright action, a zeal for the public good and a conscientious devotion to duty must ever be the guideposts for a public servant."

Perfect Record at Polls O'Connor will take a perfect record at the polls into the primary.

He had yet to be defeated in a candidacy for any public office.

One year after he had won his law degree at the University of Maryland in 1920, O'Connor—a product of Baltimore's heavily-Democratic Tenth ward—got his first public job, assistant state's attorney in Baltimore city.

In 1934, his record as a vote-getter was solidified by his record majority in his election as state attorney general.

Elected Out Jackson O'Connor edged right into a tough primary fight in 1938 when he announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

At first there were four Democratic candidates and then a three-cornered fight ensued. Finally, it was a pitched battle between O'Connor and former Mayor Howard W. Jackson, of Baltimore.

O'Connor won by a narrow margin, but it was victory against an opponent of known political strength.

When he ran for re-election in 1942, he met unexpected trouble. He defeated Theodore R. McKeldin, the Republican candidate and now mayor of Baltimore, by less than 20,000 votes. His margin in Baltimore city was only 3,800.

McKeldin made a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination. Informed observers said that McKeldin was waiting for O'Connor's announcement before committing himself either to a race for the governorship or senatorial toga. He believed, they observed, that his race against O'Connor in 1942 proved he can defeat the present governor for any office.

Gov. and Mrs. O'Connor have three sons and one daughter.

Woman's Attorney Displays Purported Boyington Telegrams

RENO, Nev., Jan. 8 (AP) — Mrs. Lucy Malcomson's attorney today displayed a series of telegrams he said she received from Lt. Col. Gregory (Pappy) Boyington as she traveled west from New York to obtain a divorce preparatory to marrying the famed flier. Boyington was not immediately available for comment. "Can hardly wait love you so damn much," one of the wires read. Boyington in San Diego yesterday said he does not plan to marry Mrs. Malcomson, who was to have appeared in court today to obtain a divorce from Stewart Malcomson, General Motors production manager in Australia. "My client is on the verge of complete collapse and is unable to appear in court today," Attorney Joseph P. Haller told an Associated Press reporter. "But in all fairness to her, and so you can see she did have some reason to think Col. Boyington had intentions of marrying her, I'd like to show you some wires she received on her way here." The telegrams were all signed "Pappy." The porpoise and the panda are the most playful animals.

Man Receives 50-Year Term in Penitentiary

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Harry Green, 28-year-old New Yorker who held up two Baltimore women with a toy whistle shaped like a pistol, was sentenced to fifty years in the Maryland penitentiary today by Judge Herman Moser. Moser convicted Green on three charges of robbery, found him innocent on two rape charges, but convicted him on charges of assault and attempted perversion. Moser sentenced Green to ten years on each of the five charges. Green was accused of holding up women clerks at a flower shop and a confectionery last November 21, and returning November 23 to hold up the confectionery a second time. Before leaving, he ordered the clerks to disrobe.

3,000 German POWs Are Alerted for Shipment

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Third service command announced today that 3,000 more German prisoners of war had been alerted for overseas shipment, bringing to a total of 6,000 the number now awaiting transportation to the New York port of embarkation.

A group of 3,080 had been ready on Christmas for movement to New York, but the travel order was cancelled because of the heavy holiday burden on the railroads. "The burden still is great, so there is no indication at present when the prisoners now being held in readiness can be moved," Third service command officials said.

The latest group will be drawn from sixteen posts in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

—The world's first sanctuary for hawks was established in Pennsylvania in 1934 on a ridge where hunters used to slaughter the migrating birds.

Three Men Are Held For Safe Robberies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Three men were charged today with house breaking in connection with safe robberies in the metropolitan area and Maryland which had netted an estimated $34,555 since Christmas eve, 1944. Police said the men took them this afternoon to a spot on the Little Patuxent river near Bowie, Md., and pointed out a number of safes in the stream.

The men, arrested today, gave their names as Welford R. Payne, 26, and Daniel R. Payne, 22, brothers of Bradbury Heights, Md., and Wayne C. Bromley, 25, Washington.

Police said the first safe job attributed to the trio was on Christmas eve, 1944. Numerous others were listed, police explaining the method in most cases was to remove the safe and haul it away by truck.

Campers Trounce Ridgeley Cagers, Bob Price Stars

AHS Center Racks Up 19 Points in Allegany's 41-22 Triumph

Bob Price, rangy center, was on the beam last night as Allegany high school's court aggregation hammered the hoops for sixteen field goals and crushed Ridgeley high school's Blackhawk in the initial game of the series between the schools. The score was 41 to 22.

Price, who quarterbacked the Campers' undefeated football team during the 1945 season, stole the show at Campbell last night by cutting the cords eight times with shots from the field and hooped three of five shots at the charity stripe to a grand total of nineteen points. The Allegany push shot artist banged in three goals in the first half and shook the draperies on five occasions in the closing heats.

Allegany Finds Range
The Blackhawk managed to hold Coach Walter L. Bowers' tall ball-hawks to a 5-2 score in the first period but in the second stanza the Blue and White found the range and in rained field goals the rest of the evening. At the half figures stood 19-4 while at the conclusion of the third period Allegany enjoyed a seventeen-point edge at 33-16.

Fifteen minutes of the game had elapsed before Ridgeley broke into the field goal column on a shot by Joe Moss. At that time the Campers held the long end of the 13-3 score in the second period. The biggest lead credited to Allegany was early in the final period when the Bowersmen were 21 points ahead at 37-16.

Referee Ejects Player
Ace Comer, forward, who was Ridgeley's leading scorer with three field goals, was tossed out of the game late in the fourth quarter by Referee Mel Henry, the arbiter charging that the player had called him a "dirty" name after the official had called a personal foul on him.

Thirteen personal fouls were called on Ridgeley and ten on Allegany. Allegany made good nine of the sixteen tries while Ridgeley had a bad night blowing nine of thirteen shots.

Jimmie Radcliffe and Gene Shaw excelled for AHS with their floor-work.

In the preliminary game, the Cumberland Dragons nosed out the Allegany Reserves, 27-25, in an extra period on Warner Baggett's field goal. The regular game ended 25-23. The lineups:

ALLEGANY	G.	F.	Pts.

CONEMAUGH CAGERS LOSE TO BEDFORD

BEDFORD, Pa., Jan. 8.—Bedford high school bested Conemaugh Township high school of Somerset county in a free-scoring court duel here tonight by the score of 50 to 45.

The Bisons outshot the visitors 12 to 7 at the charity line to win the game after being held even in field goals, each team having tossed nineteen doubledecks.

"Bud" Fisher and "Chuck" Walters were the big scorers for the Buffaloes with 24 and 16 points while Kalmanir and English paced the visitors with 13 and 10 tallies.

In scoring its fifth win in six games played, Bedford led throughout. The quarter scores were 12-14, 22-18 and 36-31. The lineups:

Mattingly and Steiner Ring Up 17 Tallies for Explorers

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Coach Bill Kegan's LaSalle high school cagers of Cumberland scored their third triumph of the season tonight by turning back Moorefield high school's Yellowjackets in a rough game. The score was 23 to 20.

The Jackets held a 6-5 edge at the quarter whistle and were also out in front 13-9 at the half but in the third quarter the Explorers moved out in front at 16-14 and retained a slim lead until the final whistle.

Each team hooped ten fielders but the visitors won the game by outshooting the Jackets at the free throw line, seven points to four.

Bob Mattingly with nine tallies and Jack Steiner with eight headed the LaSalle attack, accounting for all but six of the winners' tallies. Smith and Hott tossed fifteen of Moorefield's twenty markers.

Thirteen personal fouls were called on Moorefield and ten on LaSalle.

Coach Paugh's floor-men will play a Potomac Valley Conference game with Keyser high school in Keyser Friday night. The lineups:

Fort Hill Trims Lonaconing, 27-17 In League Opener

Tigers Blanked in Final Period; Miss 13 of 14 Shots at Foul Line

Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Fort Hill Sentinels launched their annual campaign in the W. M. I. League by defeating Central high school, of Lonaconing, last night on the Fort Hill floor by the score of 27 to 17.

The Orange and Black, coached by Francis Carrington, made a cane fight for three quarters, trailing by three points as the teams battled into the final period but the Hilltoppers outpointed the Tigers seven to nothing in the stretch battle to clinch the ball game.

Fort Hill held a 7-4 advantage at the first quarter whistle and increased its lead to seven points at half time when the score stood 14-7. Central, however, pulled up three points in the rear in the stanza, which ended 20-17.

Fort Hill showed improvement over its more recent performances and Central showed possibilities of developing into a winner. It was Fort Hill's eighth test of the season and the first game for the Tigers.

The Sentinels held a 10-8 edge in field goals and also outscored at the up-creek team at the foul line where Central missed thirteen of fourteen tries.

Frizzell, Lonaconing center, was the game's high scorer with thirteen points while Don Sensabaugh, who came into the contest as a substitute, racked up ten tallies to pace the Fort Hill attack.

Thirteen personal fouls were called on Fort Hill and ten on Central. The lineups:

FORT ASHBY DOWNS PAW PAW, 42-31

PAW PAW, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Fort Ashby high school chucked up its third straight victory tonight when it defeated Paw Paw Mountaineers by the score of 42 to 31.

All of the visitors' points were credited to Larson, May, Lann and Wolford. Larson was high point man with sixteen tallies while May contributed fourteen.

Bobby Robertson, entering the game in a substitute role, scored twenty-three of the Mountaineers' thirty-one points on nine field goals and five markers at the charity line.

The quarter scores were 8-7, 19-10 and 27-18 with Fort Ashby on top throughout. The lineups:

Bob Feller Signs Best One-Year Contract of Career with Tribe

Speedball King To Act as Instructor at Baseball School

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8. (AP)—Bob Feller, speedball king of the major leagues, announced an all-star roster of instructors for his ex-service-men's baseball school today after signing the "best" one-year contract of his career with the Cleveland Indians.

The strikeout star said no bonus clause was attached to his 1946 contract but asserted the paper was the "best I have ever signed."

This year's figure was not announced but Feller's previous top salary was a reported $40,000 in 1941, including a $10,000 bonus based on attendance.

Feller and Tribe Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh agreed they were "happy" about the contract signing but the youthful hurler declared he was concerned more with plans for his baseball school and a "spring training schedule" for his month-old son, Robert Stephan.

Leading the list of instructors at the Tampa, Fla., training session for players returning from the armed forces will be Buddy Hassett, Tommy Bridges, Hugh Mulcahy, Bucky Walters, Joe Magglio, Dizzy Dean, Charley Keller, Al Lopez, Lou Ponsessa and Harold (Muddy) Ruel, assistant to Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

"We have received applications from about 150 veterans—most of them minor leaguers—and expect over 200 when the school opens January 20," Bob said.

"This will be a non-profit business and all the instructors will pay their own expenses, but I feel that baseball owes it to the servicemen. The Tampa Chamber of Commerce is arranging housing for all the prospects and room and board will cost only $18 to $20 a week."

Nine Grid Fatalities Reported for 1945

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8. (AP)—Nine football fatalities occurred in the 1945 season, but not one of them in college football.

It was the third time in four years that the college season went through without a death caused directly or indirectly by the game.

Of the nine fatalities in 1945, five were sandlot play and four in high school, as shown by a survey made for the fourteenth year by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university's division of physical education for men.

Kerr Will Manage

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Richard (Wee) Dickie, Kerr, whose honesty and integrity were the backbone of the Black Sox world series scandal, will manage the Hutchinson (Kan.) Cubs in the Class C Western Association next season.

Appointment of Kerr, who retired from baseball between 1929 and 1937 when he managed Wausau (Wis.) in the Northern league, was announced by Jack Sheehan, director of the Chicago Cubs farm system and Hutchinson president.

Piedmont, Keyser Play Road Tilts

Lions To Invade Barton, Tornado at Fort Ashby High Tonight

Mineral county's topnotch scholastic basketball teams—Keyser and Piedmont—will play games away from home tonight.

Piedmont, victorious in six of seven games played to date, will be angling for win No. 7 when it does battle with Barton high school on the latter's court. The Lions humbled Barton earlier in the season, 49-17, and should make it two in a row over the Braves tonight.

The Bartonites have dropped four of six games played.

Coach Fred Clark's Keyser Golden Tornado will invade Fort Ashby for a Potomac Valley Conference game with Fort Ashby high school. The Keyserites will hold a 51-23 decision over Fort Ashby and are figured to repeat in the return tilt.

Fort Ashby, defeated in its first two games, defeated Barton and Romney recently while Keyser's record is three wins and one defeat. These are the only games on tap tonight in the tri-state district.

Bruce Noses Out Oakland, 31-26

Price's Shooting Pulls Game Out of Fire in Final Stanza

WESTERNPORT, Jan. 8.—Richard "Dick" Price's sharpshooting enabled Bruce high school to come from behind in the fourth quarter tonight to defeat the Oakland high school Highlanders by the score of 31 to 26.

It was an even-Stephen affair in the first half when the teams were deadlocked 12-12 at the quarter and 17-17 at intermission. Going into the final heat Oakland held a 23-22 edge and then Price got hot and provided the baskets that turned the tide in favor of Coach "Chip" Grindley's guild.

Price was the "big gun" in this close battle with sixteen points to his credit. Outscored twelve to eight goals from the field, Oakland made it interesting by connecting for ten foul goals in nineteen tries.

Hannon, of Bruce, and Bosley, of Oakland, left the game on personal fouls. The lineups:

Baltimore Gels Navy-Noire Dame Football Game

Contest Set for Nov. 2; Middies and Cadets To Clash Nov. 30

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8. (AP)—The United States Naval Academy announced today its 1946 nine-game football schedule which will culminate with the Army-Navy battle November 30 at Philadelphia.

This final tilt will be Navy's "home" game. Army and Navy have a contract with Philadelphia to stage their annual fracas there for five years, and the 1946 meeting will be the second towards fulfilling that agreement.

During the war, Army and Navy played at Annapolis in 1942, at West Point in 1943, at Baltimore in 1944 and at Philadelphia last year.

Columbia university returns to the Tars' schedule after a two-year lull. Navy will play the University of North Carolina for the first time. The schedule:

Sept. 28—Villanova at Annapolis; 5—Columbia at New York; 12—Duke at Baltimore; 19—North Carolina at Baltimore; 26—University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Nov. 2—Notre Dame at Baltimore; 9—Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta, Ga.; 16—Pennsylvania State College at Annapolis; 30—Army at Philadelphia.

PANTHERS BAG FOURTH; BEAT BEVERLY, 35-20

PARSONS, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Parsons high school's Panthers came through with their fourth victory in five starts by conquering Beverly high school here tonight to the tune of 35 to 20.

The Panthers unloaded a barrage of fifteen field goals, G. Gilmore and L. Roy heading the offensive with four baskets each. Beverly was limited to six field goals.

Coach Homer Brooks' team held the upper hand throughout, the quarter scores being 10-2, 19-7 and 31-11. The lineups:

Petersburg Beats Mathias Passers

Vikings Register First Victory of Season by 28-24 Score

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Coach John Groves' Petersburg high school quintet defeated Mathias high school's floor-men here last afternoon in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 28 to 24.

It was Petersburg's first victory of the season, the locals having dropped their opener recently to the Alumni by the score of 28-10.

Miller, center, kept Mathias in the running with his thirteen points, registered on five field goals and three free throws. Scoring honors were about evenly divided among the Vikings' five starting players. Petersburg held a 15 to 8 lead at the halfway mark.

Petersburg will play its next game in Romney Friday night. The lineups:

Capt. Needle May Succeed Daiger

By GREG JOHNSON
BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 8.—When the Maryland Jockey Club holds a special meeting January 16, no one need be surprised if Capt. John O. Needle, of this city, is named general manager to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement on that day of Matthias L. Daiger.

The organization is also expected to publicly announce the appointment of Joe Gillen as track superintendent at Pimlico to succeed Elbert Smith, who has held that job since 1924. Another announcement expected during the January 16 meeting will be installing W. J. Reedy, former manager at A. G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm, as auditor of the Maryland Jockey Club succeeding Richard Hagner, who has held the position for many years.

Gillen has already replaced Smith, while Hagner has been notified of his release. Daiger, who relinquished his general manager's post at Pimlico after forty-eight years on January 16, is expected to remain as president of the Timonium half-mile track in Baltimore county.

Nats Sign Lewis For 1946 Infield

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The Washington Senators today took a tip from the World Champion Detroit Tigers and signed outfielder Buddy Lewis as an infielder for next season.

The Tigers recently decided to switch their home-run hitter, Hank Greenberg, from the outfield back to first base, where he originally started.

Lewis will move from right field to third base, where he played before shifting to the outfield in 1940. He injected new life into the Senators last season in their desperate attempt to beat Detroit out of the American league pennant. After his discharge from the air force, he batted .337 in 89 games.

Arthur Godfrey Will Be Guest Star Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Jan. 8—Arthur Godfrey, the morning broadcaster both network and locally, is going to see what things look like at night. That one reason why he is going to appear as the armchair guest of Elery Queen on CBS at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Another reason is that he is to be given a chance to pick the solution of the detective piece to be displayed as "The Adventure of the Various Deaths of Mr. Payne."

Another present, daytime broadcaster, Al Pearce of the ABC matinee, is to be the guest of the Andrews Sisters program of CBS at 10:30. Last year Al was on this network in the night time.

The Eddie Cantor show will be moved in its entirety to Halloran hospital, New York, for its NBC broadcast at 9. Besides the broadcast Eddie plans to distribute some gifts to the hospitalized men.

A talk on "Safeguarding Wartime Savings" is the listing for MBS at 1:30. It will be delivered by Charles B. Kellstadt, chairman of the board of the Better Business Bureau.

Great Moments in music will turn its CBS attention at 10 to works of Fritz Kreisler as David Ross does the narrating. The conductor now is Sylvan Levin, who has been signed on a regular basis. He also has been conducting Sinfonietta for MBS on Saturday evenings.

ABC is now filling its matinee 1:30 half hour with two programs, the first 15-minute being "But Not Forgotten" and the other Our Singing Land."

Method Is Fined $25 On Disorder Charges

Charles Method, negro, 450 North Mechanic street, was fined $25 in police court Monday morning on charges of operating a disorderly place and disturbance of the peace. Method was arrested early Sunday morning on charges of selling intoxicating beverages after midnight Saturday and selling alcoholic beverages at premises which do not front on a public street, but City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett ordered the charges changed.

Lt. James E. Van, who made the arrest, said Method lives on the second floor at the Mechanic street address and serves plate lunches and beer in some of the rooms. The negro said he does not sell the beer but gives it away with the meals. Police said loud talking and laughing and steady flow of traffic in and out of the place resulted in Method's arrest.

Harpers Ferry Man Is Injured Here

Ernest H. Peters, 37, Harpers Ferry, W. Va., was admitted to Allegheny hospital Monday morning for treatment of a deep laceration of the right foot. The B. and O. fireman said he was injured while at work. Attaches said his condition was "good" last evening. Edward Holshey, 15 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Holshey, 9 East First street, was treated in Allegheny hospital Saturday night for a severe laceration of the left wrist, suffered in a fall at home. Five sutures were required to close the wound.

Better To Give than . . .

GREENFIELD, Mass., (AP)—In spite of lights and attractive decorations, the town hall Christmas tree did not attract very many sightseers. The reason? It was set up in the tax collector's office.

ZONOLITE
Zonolite is a plaster aggregate being used in plaster instead of sand.
THE FOLLOWING ARE SIX REASONS FOR USING ZONOLITE

1. Gives better insulation
2. Greater fire protection
3. Greater sound proofing
4. Greater crack resistance
5. Much lighter
6. Easier applied.

Use Zonolite and you will realize you are using a superior material.
PRICE—$1.25 PER BAG
First cost slightly higher. All things considered, it is lower in price and does a better job.
